FR JACK

Whether it be marriage, a school, an office, or family, a country or institution, unity is the key to happiness. All people working and pulling together under the leadership of the boss/head, trusting they are a good leader. Jesus knew that so well.

His departing words were, "That all would be one." The breakup of the Christian churches into thousands, yes thousands, many vying for position, must surely go down as the greatest scandal of our time.

The result is a very weakened church, lack of conviction and a failure to preach the gospel message of PEACE. A failure to change the face of society.

At the moment, if we are trying to hold the church together, it must be as an instrument of peace and not preserving it for its own sake.

The dying prayer of Jesus was: - "That all may be one." "Father may they be one as we are one.

May they be one, with me in them and you in me, may they be so completely one that the world will realise it was you who sent me."
