FR JACK

I often worry about what I write here and what I preach. Why?

My mother used to bake brown soda bread and it was beautiful.

Many other women bake brown soda bread, even here in the parish.

But none of them make it quite like my mother. It is a very personal experience.

You see, I could give you a recipe here for a wedding cake. All the best quality ingredients, quantities and how to put them together. But no way does that compare to the sheer joy of eating/sharing a wedding cake and a glass of champagne with the happy couple.

Reading the scriptures and doing what Fr Jack suggests, no way compares to the sheer joy of knowing Christ.

You've got to sit down and spend your own time with the readings/ingredients and hopefully that will bring you to knowing the person of Christ in a very personal way.

"I live now, not I but Christ lives in me."

This is the freedom that Paul talks about in the second reading.

The freedom of being in love.

You do not stumble into the future.

You create your own future.
