Fr Jack

Again, a very familiar gospel about the raising of Lazarus. Hopefully when our time comes, we will also rise. But in the meantime, we can do a great job in preparation for experiencing the joy of heaven and get a taste of it here and now. "The dead man. Lazarus came out, his feet and hands bound with bands of stuff and a cloth around his face." Jesus says, "unbind him and let him go free." I believe we are all bound to many things, either through attachment or inadequacy. Remember last week's newsletter, "Spiritual maturity is gained when we stop attaching happiness to material things."

ATTACHMENT:

to anger
to jealousy
to not forgiving
to my phone
to any possession
to spitefulness
to self-righteousness
to judging

INADEQUACIES:

feeling inferior
not good enough
comparing to others
not being at peace with myself.

Unbind yourself and be free this side of the grave.

Migration

Migration should never be an obligation, says Pope Francis. And he intends to develop that idea more thoroughly in his message for the next World Day of Migrants and Refugees, which the Catholic Church marks each year on the last Sunday in September. "Free to choose whether to migrate or to stay" is the theme of the upcoming migrant day message, the Vatican announced on Tuesday. It said the pope had chosen the title "with the intention of fostering renewed reflection on a right that has not yet been codified at the international level: the right not to have to migrate" and "to be able to remain in one's own land".
