Please talk to Fr Jack

Fr Jack

Today's Gospel is a very touching story about Jesus. "He felt sorry for them." He passionately cares for each one of us. An awesome thought. God caring for me. They were harassed and dejected. A man came to see me as I am writing this. He's got food and he has got a house, a job, a family but he was harassed and dejected. Life is tough, he said. And yes, it is tough for many people. Increased prices and bills, fraught relationships, lack of appreciation by partner, employer, family and friends. Boredom and routine, no light at the end of the tunnel. I was/am in total sympathy. Then Jesus goes on to talk about a few labourers. And a great harvest. For far too long I think many people have seen this to refer to priests. I would like to reduce today's gospel to one sentence. "TALK TO AND SUPPORT EACH OTHER."

Nothing great was ever achieved without enthusiasm

PECKHAM CITIZENS

On Sunday 25th June between 11am - 12 noon, there will be a Listening Coffee Morning in the Church Hall with Southwark & Peckham Citizens. We will be discussing the question "What is stopping you and your community from thriving"? Join us to get to know new members of the congregation and to have your voice heard as we begin to decide which areas we want to campaign on during the General Election in 2024.

Drawing Group

Charlotte one of our parishioners would like to start a weekly reading and drawing group in the church hall one day a week. The day will be a Monday, Wednesday or Thursday once agreed. The idea being that as a group we take it in turns to read Laudato Si' to each other while we draw wild beautiful flowers/weeds that have grown in the neighbourhood.
